

MRS. ROWE ENTERS DENIAL TO CHARGES

ASSERTS SHE NEVER ACCEPTED A CASH CONTRIBUTION

Mrs. Rowe Characterizes Charges Made by Mrs. Eaton "Perfectly Ridiculous"—Hearing Will Be Resumed Monday Afternoon.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Positive denial that Mrs. Page Waller Eaton had been compelled to contribute part of her salary as a city employee to the relief of a relative of Mayor Thompson, was made today by Mrs. Louise Osborne Rowe, head of the city department of public welfare, and the person to whom Mrs. Eaton testified she had made the alleged payments.

Mrs. Rowe's denial was made before the civil service commission by which Mrs. Eaton's charges are being investigated.

Exonerates Mayor Thompson.

After leaving the witness stand today Mrs. Eaton was quoted as saying she had obtained information which exonerated Mayor Thompson of all knowledge of the payments which she said she had made to Mrs. Rowe for the benefit of Mrs. Margaret Mivelaz, the mayor's sister-in-law.

Mrs. Rowe testified in flat contradiction to the story told by Mrs. Eaton who had quoted the head of the welfare department as saying: "Mazie says you will have to come across," referring to the payment of a third of her salary to Mrs. Rowe.

"On the occasion referred to," said Mrs. Rowe, "I told Mrs. Eaton that she was to be the superintendent of social surveys in the welfare department. She was greatly pleased with the news."

"There was absolutely no mention of paying any money to charity. The name of Mrs. Mivelaz was not mentioned nor was Mrs. Thompson spoken of either in connection with payments to charity or in any other connection."

Tells of Attending Committee Meet.

Mrs. Rowe told of attending a meeting of the council finance committee and being informed that either the bureau of employment or the bureau of social surveys of the welfare department was to be abolished.

"I was asked which I would rather lose and I replied neither. And then I said that I'd rather lose the bureau of surveys but that I would hate to see Mrs. Eaton's bureau abolished."

"Several days later the surveys bureau was abolished and I told Mrs. Eaton I was sorry," said Mrs. Rowe. "She was in a vindictive mood and replied, Mayor Thompson has to take care of me. At one time she said she had done more work for the mayor than I had and she enumerated the work she did for the mayor."

Rumors that the city council would be asked by several aldermen to abolish the department of public welfare were current thru the day.

Terms Charges Ridiculous.

In concluding her direct examination Mrs. Rowe characterized the charges made by Mrs. Eaton "perfectly ridiculous." She said neither Mayor Thompson nor his wife ever had asked her for money to support a relative nor to contribute to any kind of a charity fund.

In reply to a question as to whether she had ever accepted a cash contribution of any kind from Mrs. Eaton, Mrs. Rowe said:

"Absolutely not."

The hearing will be resumed Monday afternoon, when it is expected that Mrs. Rowe will resume the stand and be cross-examined.

Attorney Stedman announced that he would call a new witness Monday who would testify to having seen Mrs. Eaton hand Mrs. Rowe money on one occasion.

Mrs. Eaton while under cross-examination by Stephen A. Malato, counsel for Mrs. Rowe, was asked a number of questions concerning woman suffrage.

"I believe," said Mr. Malato, "that during the Mayorality campaign that you spoke in behalf of woman suffrage."

"I think I said that women in politics would clean up politics," was the reply.

"Did it occur to you," she was asked, "that acting as you did in a manner disloyal to the man who appointed you, by publishing this matter broadcast, that you are giving a blow to woman suffrage?"

"I do not feel I have given a blow to woman suffrage," was the reply.

SPRINGFIELD HAS $15,000 FIRE EARLY THIS MORNING

Blaze Starts in Basement of Furniture Store and Quickly Spreads to Two Adjoining Stores.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 27.—Fire starting in the basement of a furniture store shortly after mid-night has spread to two adjoining stores and threatens to become a conflagration. The historic court house where Abraham Lincoln practiced law is but a block from the scene of the blaze.

At 1:30 o'clock this morning firemen had gained control of the blaze. Mrs. J. D. Huber, wife of the manager of the John L. Jones Credit Furniture company, was taken from the burning building unconscious from the effects of smoke. She soon revived.

Four men who were sleeping in apartments above the store narrowly escaped being trapped. They made their way out by breaking down a door when the alarm was given by Deputy Sheriffs.

The loss is estimated at $6,000 on stock and $10,000 on the building.

VERDUN IS TREMBLING UNDER VIOLENT ATTACK

GERMANS STORM AND TAKE OUT- LYING FORT OF DOUAMONT

French Defenders Are Driven Back Upon Their Inner Lines in Others' Sectors—Russians Announce Capture of Important City of Kermanshah.

The French war office, in its latest official statement, describes the battle around Fort Douaumont one of the outlying forts of Verdun, as desperate, but makes no actual admission of the capture of the fort by the Germans as claimed in the official communication issued at Berlin.

Fort Douaumont, says the French statement, is an advance element of the old defense organization of the Verdun fortress and goes on to say that the position captured Saturday morning by the Germans after several fruitless assaults, was recaptured again by French troops who succeeded in advancing beyond that point and have maintained their ground.

The position referred to is not clearly defined.

Heavy bombardments by the Germans to the east and west of the Meuse were met by vigorous counterattacks, and the French have resisted the attempts of the Germans to capture Champagneville and LaCote de Poivre (Pepper Hill), two positions of strategic importance.

Late dispatches from Paris say that utmost confidence is felt there in the ability of the French troops to withstand the German assaults and in some quarters a continuation of the battle centering around Verdun for the next two weeks is looked for.

Sweep Back French Lines.

Under the eyes of their emperor, whose presence at the front is officially announced, the German infantry has advanced to the edge on both sides of the salient, wherein lies Verdun and, according to Berlin, has stormed and taken the outlying fort of Douaumont, northeast of the fortress, while on the plain of the Woivre to the east and southeast it has swept back the French lines and broken their resisting power along a wide front, forcing them to retreat with the Germans in pursuit.

The Crown Prince's armies engaged in the terrific battle have had to sweep back the French lines, according to correspondents near the scene, but what is said to be the greatest concentration of artillery fire known to history, with the monster guns of the Germans and Austrians, brought from the Serbian and Russian fronts, have played an important part.

Within Four Miles of Verdun.

With this mighty aid, the infantry has pushed down the valley of the Meuse, gained the hills southwest of Douaumont, not more than four miles from the fortress, and carried fortified positions to the east. Berlin declares the Brandenburg regiments particularly distinguishing themselves in storming Fort Douaumont.

While this was going on, the Germans in the Woivre region, south of the salient, the two operations apparently being designed to push in the sides of the projecting front, a buckling process which, it kept up, would soon result in the fall of the fortress.

The French, however, are defending their stronghold with notable tenacity, and, according to various accounts, inflicting terrible losses on the attacking forces. Paris has not conceded the fall of Fort Douaumont, altho admitting that the fighting there had taken on an extremely sanguinary character and it only mentions the Woivre region in an announcement that the advanced post held for observation purposes along the lines from Ornes to Hennefont has been attacked by the German infantry. The German attacks along the front are declared by Paris to be made without regard to the losses sustained.

Notwithstanding the concentration of attention upon the great struggle on the western front the current dispatches show that events of considerable importance, while not comparable to those around Verdun, are happening in other war theaters.

Russ Capture Kermanshah.

From Persia comes the Russian announcement that the important city of Kermanshah has been taken by storm by Russian forces.

Recent Petrograd advices have indicated an expectation that the southern movement of this Russian army might eventually line it up with the British operation in neighboring Mesopotamia. The advance to Kermanshah places the Russian column within 150 miles of Kut-el-Amara, on the Tigris, near which a British force is at present stalled on its march to the relief of General Townshend's beleaguered army at Kut.

In Albania the Austrians are evidently having things all their own way, particularly in the territory as far as south as Durazzo.

An official statement issued in Rome admits the evacuation of Durazzo by the Italians, who recently were reported to have been defeated on the outskirts of the city by the Austrians.

MAY DISCUSS DEFENSIVE ARMAMENT

LANSING INDICATES U. S. MAY TAKE UP SUBJECT

In No Event, However, Will U. S. be Party to Negotiations Unless it is Assured Lives of Americans Will Not be Endangered, it is Said.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Secretary Lansing indicated today that the United States was prepared under certain circumstances to discuss with the German government what may properly be regarded as defensive armament for merchant ships. In no event, however, according to authoritative information tonight, will the United States be a party to such negotiations unless it is assured that the lives of American citizens aboard ships armed for defensive purposes will not be endangered during the course of the discussion. Only three days remain before German and Austrian submarine commanders will be instructed to treat armed merchantmen ships as war vessels. There was no indication today that issuance of the order, announced in formal notifications from the central powers for Feb. 29th, would be postponed, altho it was admitted that a postponement would not come as a surprise.

Leaders in both houses of congress who for several days have agitated passage of a resolution warning Americans not to travel on armed ships seemed convinced tonight that no such measure could be put thru at present.

Senator Gore who has such a resolution pending, issued a statement saying that while he still favored a warning he believed the objects sought by his resolution already had been accomplished thru public discussion.

Representative McLeMore, whose warning resolution in the house has been kept from coming up by administration leaders, said he was content to wait until the president and Secretary Lansing had opportunity to try out their policy of asserting determinedly the right of travel on ships bearing arms.

Administration officials still were awaiting the receipt of the appendices to the latest German memorandum on the subject which contain what is alleged to be a copy of confidential instructions given to British sea captains. If this document contains what the German government claims, it is said, to be probable inquiries may be addressed to Great Britain on the subject.

The British government some time ago assured the United States that its merchant ships would not operate offensively.

Germany in its memorandum gives as one of the cardinal reasons for its determination to sink armed merchant ships of her enemies without warning the fact that German submarines have been fired upon repeatedly by merchantmen which apparently were engaged in peaceful pursuits of commerce.

A high official of the state department questioned about this contention gave it as his opinion that there might in certain cases be justification for one belligerent committing acts of retaliation for violations of international law committed by an enemy. It was made plain that the department will not make any decision in this connection until it has had opportunity to carefully inspect the appendices to the German memorandum.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETING HELD SATURDAY NIGHT

President Rodgers and Members Clampt and Wells Approved Bills and Ordered Them Paid—Claim Tuesday Meeting Would be Too Late—Member Imgrund Explains Absence.

One of the two special meetings of the Board of Education which have been called in the past week was held in the council chamber Saturday evening. The meeting was called shortly after eight o'clock after President Rodgers and Members Clampt and Wells had waited some time for Members Imgrund and Rogerson.

The meeting Saturday evening was held on a call issued by President Rodgers. Two days before a call was signed by Members Imgrund and Rogerson asking for a meeting to be held February 28th. Both of the calls were for the same purpose, namely, the approval of all bills contracted by the present board.

The two members of the board present with President Rodgers went thru the formality of accepting the call and ordering all properly approved bills to be paid when funds are available. President Rodgers took the same stand that he did in the appointment of teachers last May and voted in the affirmative both on the acceptance of the call and the approval of bills.

President Rodgers said that it was queer that Members Imgrund and Rogerson should stay away from the meeting when it was for the very purpose for which their meeting had been called. He said that if their contention was correct the last day of the month would be too late to approve bills and arrange for the cashing of warrants and draw the same as the board would be out of existence after 12 o'clock, Feb. 29. President Rodgers said that the board would jeopardize the salary of teachers and of individual by failing to take care of them while the board had unquestioned jurisdiction.

Member Clampt was of the opinion that bills approved on the last day of the month could not be taken care of. The members of the board present were emphatic in their statement that the absent members could not go to the office of the clerk today or any time between now and the last day of the month and approve other bills and have them come under the motion made at the meeting Saturday evening.

Following the usual formalities the clerk called the roll and read the call which stated that it was for the purpose of approving bills. Member Clampt seconded by Member Wells moved the call be accepted and acted upon. On roll call the vote was Members Clampt and Wells, ayes 2. Absent, Members Imgrund and Rogerson. The president voted in the affirmative and declared the motion carried.

Members Wells seconded by Member Clampt moved that all properly approved claims be paid. On roll call the vote was Members Clampt and Wells ayes 2. Absent, Members Imgrund and Rogerson. President Rodgers voted in the affirmative and declared the motion carried. On motion of Member Wells seconded by Member Clampt the board adjourned.

MR. IMGRUND'S STATEMENT.

George W. Imgrund, member of the Board from the First Ward, talked with a Journal reporter over the telephone Saturday night. Mr. Imgrund said that the reason he did not attend the meeting was that the call issued by himself and Mr. Rogerson was issued the day before that of President Rodgers. He thought inasmuch as both calls were for the same purpose that the one issued by Mr. Rogerson and himself should have had precedence.

Mr. Imgrund further stated that he was heartily in favor of the teachers getting their money and that he expected to sign the pay roll Monday. He said that the reason he and Mr. Rogerson made the call for the last day of February was in order to give all who had bills against the board ample time to file them, that it was not the intent to approve and pay the claims but to approve them so that the incoming board would have no trouble in knowing what claims were legal.

FAVOR A FEDERAL VOLUNTEER ARMY

CONGRESS COMMITTEES WOULD PRO- VIDE FEDERAL ARMY RESERVE

House Committee Agrees on General Terms of Bill It Expects to Get Before the House Within Ten Days—Plan Extension of Training Camps.

Washington, Feb. 26.—A growing tendency to provide for a federal army reserve in addition to the regular army and federalized national guard was manifest today in both the house and military committees. Members of both committees said they favored a practical test of the possibility of forming a federal volunteer army in peace times on lines somewhat similar to the continental army plan. The apparent intention to abandon the continental project was wholly one of the causes leading up to the resignation of Secretary Garrison.

The house committee agreed today upon the general terms of a bill it expects to get before the house within ten days providing for a regular army with an authorized peace strength of 113,000 men, a federalized national guard which would reach a fixed minimum strength of 424,000 in five years; adequate reserve systems for both of these forces; and organization of civilian training camps with wide discretion reposed in the war department as to the terms of enlistment, training and government.

The senate committee has agreed tentatively to a plan under which training camps would be authorized in every congressional district where sufficient men volunteered for training under an obligation of war service. The maximum force to be thus raised in any district would be this number as proposed for the first year of the garrison continental army plan. The camps would be under command of full complements of regular army officers.

Members of both committees, while saying they would support any good plan for federalizing the national guard as a first line force, admitted frankly today that they had doubts whether a requisite force could be enlisted in the national guard, even under the proposed federal pay and regulation provisions. Representative Kahn who has advocated an extension of the business men's training camp idea to all classes of citizens who would not enlist in the regulars or the national guard said today that with 30,000 men already enrolled for intensive military training this summer, he had received assurances that fully 100,000 would be available next year under his plan.

Members of the senate committee are understood to take a similar view. The tentative plan they are considering is in addition to the regular army and federalized National guard proposals and is intended to reach men who would not be found in either of those services.

PRIZES FOR PAY-UP WEEK WILL BE ANNOUNCED AFTER DRAWING

Lucky Number Coupons Will Be Selected at Random from Box Monday Afternoon in Central Park—Pay-up Week Results.

The drawing for the Pay-up week prizes will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the central park pagoda. The coupons will be collected from the eighty merchants Monday morning. Eighteen numbers will be drawn from the box and prizes will be awarded in rotation. These numbers will be published and the coupons will be held for claim one week. Eighteen duplicate numbers will be drawn and if any coupon of the first set drawn is not claimed prizes will be awarded to the holder of the alternate number drawn.

The results of Pay-up week have been considerable, money actually collected on back accounts does not represent the whole advantage to the community. Such an observance cannot but help in the formation of the "pay-up habit." The expense of doing business in this country would be far less were the habit of paying cash more closely cultivated and pay-up weeks, tho by no means cure-alls, may do much in inculcating the habit of paying in one goes.

The Spokesman-Review of Spokane, Wash., one of the great papers of the coast, gives figures to indicate that social conditions have already improved under state wide prohibition in Washington. In Spokane the average number of prisoners was much less during the period mentioned than during a like period in former years. The same state of facts was evidenced from other cities. Banks and retail business also showed marked improvement.

American made war munitions are now pouring into Europe at the rate of nearly $2,000,000 worth daily, and it is no wonder that general business conditions in the United States are thus reported prosperous. A great volume of orders has been a boon to business and likewise a boon to the present administration, so that the record of shipments may be "pointed to with pride."

"A Little Fire."

Let us hope that the next day or two may see the end of the high school debate controversy. At any rate we can hope that the newspaper part of it is over, for the vast amount of space required for the communications on the subject can be put to much better use.

To an outsider it looks as if the whole matter might have been investigated, argued, settled and forgotten about within a few days' time and about a column of newspaper space required. The present situation gives new emphasis to the noble truth, "Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth."

May Claim President's Privilege.

Judge Clayton of the United States district court is said to have in his possession a letter written by Mr. Bryan in February, 1913, in which the writer stated that President Wilson should be exempt from the restraining influence of the Baltimore single term plank. In some quarters it is believed that this statement must completely muzzle the former secretary from any attack on Mr. Wilson's second term ambitions, but perhaps Mr. Bryan will plead the same privilege that has been accorded to President Wilson in a number of notable instances—the privilege of changing his mind—and so showing that the 1913 letter does not express his 1915 views.

It is gratifying to note that the people of South Carolina have ignored the plea of the cotton manufacturers and by a child labor bill have raised the minimum age limit from 12 to 14, beginning January 1. Child labor conditions in the south have been a disgrace to the states and have been a large factor in the widespread ignorance which has prevailed.

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

There are so many noble gents in this bright world of joy and gloe, that men who seem like eighteen cents don't need to worry you or me. We do not need associates who are not built to put up, we need not mingle with the "skates" who would at any price. The woods are full of splendid scouts whose friendship is a thing to prize, but if you herd with down-and-outs, you can not to such friendship rise. Man must be honest, good and straight, if he'd have friends who're worth the while; he can not trot a crooked gait and be considered quite in style. The men whose friendship is a boon are found all over this cheerful earth; they do not give a playmate for anything but sterling worth. You may be poor, you may be bald, you may have water on the brain, but when you've to their circle called, you know you have not lived in vain.

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

Feb. 27, 1764—An expedition under Major Loftus set out from New Orleans to take possession of Illinois for Great Britain.

In many districts. Improvement in labor conditions is followed by better educational influence and education is what is needed in the south more than anything else for its illiterate classes, both white and black.

Farm Advisor Plan Should Live.

Because of prevailing road conditions and the lateness of the season it has been found advisable not to push the farm advisor project any further at this time. While this action was really necessary in view of all conditions, the farm advisor movement should not be permitted to die. If agricultural development in this county is to keep pace with the times, an advisor should eventually be secured. Based on reports from various other counties in Illinois and from other states the expenditure for a farm advisor will bring in a return much in excess. With the values at their present figure and with the expectation that there will be still further advances in coming years, there is no more important question than that of soil fertility and how to maintain it. Postponement of action on the farm advisor is all right, but farmers should take up the question again at not later than during the summer months.

War Losses in Metals.

(From the Engineering Magazine.)
The losses of all the metals have been multiplied many times by the great war. The British high explosive or shrapnel shell goes to the field with a brass head which is unscrewed, thrown away, and the fuse is also usually of brass, and the shell has a copper ring to take the grooves of the rifling. The shell is fired, and the copper and brass are lost. If the shell is shrapnel, the lead-antimony bullets are lost also. The French shoot a rifle bullet which is pure copper, the other nations, one containing considerable lead and usually antimony, sometimes with a nickel-steel or cupronickel jacket. Every detonating cap used results in the volatilization of a little mercury. Early in the war it was estimated that 112,000 metric tons of copper were being consumed yearly by each side, much of which is unrecoverable. The figure is probably low. The trench-furrowed fields of Europe will probably make rich picking for a while for the old metal man but most of this spent wealth will almost inevitably be lost.

LET US.

(Editor's note.—The verses are respectfully referred to the Board of Education, et al.)
Let us walk today in the glorious light.

With our faces turned to the sun;
Then the shadows all will behind us fall,
When the work of the day is done.

Let us look for the beautiful good and true,
And not for the darkened past;
For 'tis very sure we will find the pure,
In the glow which our own lives cast.

Let us leave the evils where buried they lie,
Nor air to another's shame;

Let us give a hand and help him to stand,
Let us play him fair in the game.

Let us bury the hatchet nor dig it up,
Whether in home or in school;

What worth is our prayer unless we act square,
By following the golden rule?

Let us weave for the world of our very best,
It wants not the mud and slime;
So let us join in the web which we spin,
Harmonious threads for all time.

Let us lend a hand on the stormy road,
And trust that the motive is true;

And the one should make a little mistake,
Let us cease condemnation,—will you?

Let us turn forever from wrangle and brawl,
Speak only the good and true,

Let us do all we can to help every man;
Say brother I'm ready—are you?

Early Court Decision on School Case Needed

Regardless of differing views on the status of the Jacksonville board of education after March 1, the fact is clear that the school system will be in a bad financial way for some time to come. It is declared that the law passed by the last general assembly abolishing a portion of the Jacksonville school charter will become effective March 1, and that the present board of education will go out of office. On the other hand, it is contended that the present members of the board were elected to office to serve until their successors are chosen and qualify.

The attitude of the majority of the present board was indicated some time since by a request sent to the city council to call an election of members of the board in the Third and Fourth wards under the provisions of the special school charter. The attitude was further evidenced by the employment of attorneys to represent the board in expected litigation. Since attorneys and others who are presumably well posted in school laws and affairs differ, and since the authority of the board to contract and pay its obligations is questioned, there can be no stability until a supreme court decision is rendered.

In the financial affairs of the board it makes no difference whether the special charter will exist after March 1, or the general law will control, if only there is a certainty which condition exists. The schools are run for the greater part of the year on anticipation warrants and arrangements, as is said, cannot be made for the cashing of these warrants by any bank until there is some certainty as to the authority of the board for ordering warrants drawn. In view of this condition advocates of the present system and those who believe in the operation of the general law should be of one mind in bringing to pass an early court decision. This should be a friendly proceeding, because the interest of the schools are vitally affected. If uncertainty should exist for a period of months the school management would be greatly embarrassed and with no money available for salaries, or for general school expenses, it can readily be seen what a chaotic condition will result. The case can get into court thru injunction or mandamus proceeding, or possibly in some other way, but certainly at the interest of the schools themselves, those who are most intimately connected with the whole situation, no matter what their personal views on the subject, should get together and ask an early court settlement. The majority of the board of education who have authorized the employment of attorneys could take no more reasonable action than to bring proceedings to a head in some speedy way looking to a court decision. The majority and the minority of the board should be willing to unite in some effort along this line.

In the normal course of events it takes months to get a supreme court decision, but in emergency cases, where it can be shown that the public is being inconvenienced or damaged, by delay, such special procedure can be brought on the court as will bring to pass early action. This was done in the Ferguson and Munro suits against the state, questioning the validity of certain appropriations. It was done still more recently when the question was raised as to the legality of women voting for delegates to the national convention, as it was necessary for the secretary of state to have certain knowledge as to how he must proceed. The present situation in Jacksonville would probably not be considered by the supreme court as very complex, and whatever is necessary to bring about a speedy decision should be done.

TWENTIETH DISTRICT POLITICAL GOSSIP

When the Twentieth Congressional Republican conference was held in this city a few weeks since, by a vote of the delegates Senator Sherman was authorized to select two delegates to the national convention. The expectation at that time was that the two so selected would become candidates without opposition, and when the ballots were made up by the secretary of state, would receive the official O.K. of Senator Sherman. But as so often happens in political affairs, the expected program is not to be carried out in the unanimous way at that time indicated. When the conference was held Homer J. Tice of Greenview, who was the chairman, stated that if the matter were left to Senator Sherman that he would be one of the two delegates chosen, and that he had no idea as to what other man would be named.

A few weeks after the conference a report was current that Frank J. Heint of this city had been named as a delegate together with Mr. Tice. In certain political differences in the past, Mr. Heint's selection was not satisfactory to some party leaders in the district. Immediately afterward came rumors that there would be more than two candidates for delegates in the district, and the rumors took on actuality Saturday when petitions were circulated to make possible the candidacy of Samuel O. Savage of Tallula.

At the same time the story was abroad that petitions will be circulated for Andrew Russell and that Mr. Russell and Mr. Savage will have their names on the ballot in the coming election. And still another story was that Mr. Russell might not become a candidate and that instead Elmer Simpson, a well known politician of Carrollton and an enthusiastic Sherman man, will be a candidate.

When politicians opposed to Mr. Heint filed objections with Senator Sherman to his choice as a delegate, it is said that the senator replied that he had been advised by Mr. Tice that he and Mr. Heint had been chosen at a conference, and that the senator in designating them as delegates from the district believed that he was acting according with the expressed will of the Twentieth Congressional District Republican conference. Mr. Tice's statement on the question has not been secured, but it is possible that he wrote the senator that he and Mr. Heint had been chosen at a conference. Instead of at "the conference," and a conference in political affairs is a very uncertain matter, as a few gathered together could truthfully be so termed. But regardless of the causes leading up to the present situation, the fact remains that everything is not smooth in the Republican camps of the Twentieth district.

When the list of Sherman delegates was announced several weeks ago from the various congressional districts of the state there were immediate uprisings in several of the districts where men designated as delegates were not satisfactory to leaders representing other party factions. There was nothing greatly surprising in this, as it would be almost beyond belief if Senator Sherman and his immediate advisors could select delegates from all the state based on such astute political knowledge that the selections would be approved in each district without contest.

In Congressman Copley's district, in the northern part of the state, the two delegates chosen were not acceptable to the congressman and he manifested the strong control he has Smalley.

Mrs. Frank R. Smalley died Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at her home in Champaign at the age of 43 years. The deceased is survived by her husband and two brothers, George Kimber of Waverly and A. L. Kimber of Chicago; also one sister Mrs. Anna Emmerson of New York.

The remains were brought to Waverly Saturday afternoon, and funeral services held at 3:15 in Christ Episcopal church. Interment in East Cemetery.

McCoy.

Many friends in the city will regret to learn of the death of Rev. M. S. McCoy, for many years a well known Methodist pastor of the Illinois conference. He passed away at his home in Mt. Sterling Thursday night, after an illness extending over a period of several weeks.

He was born on a farm near Versailles, Jan. 9, 1855, and there he grew to manhood. While still a young man he entered the Methodist conference and for twenty-five years was in the ministry. In 1898 he purchased the printing plant of the Bowen Chronicle, and in 1902 he moved to Mt. Sterling and purchased the Brown County Republican.

He sold his interest in this paper in August, 1912, to Mr. P. M. Riddick. After this, together with his son Melvin, he opened a notion store in Mt. Sterling, and after conducting this business for a year he again purchased a printing plant, now known as the Mt. Sterling Mail and was the owner of the paper at the time of his death. He married Miss Nancy L. Hill, Oct. 7, 1880. The children surviving are R. O. McCoy and Mrs. Mary Witty of Mt. Sterling, and M. W. McCoy of St. Louis, also his widow. The funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in charge of Rev. W. H. McGhee of White Hall. Burial was made in the Mt. Sterling cemetery.

The hardest fought game of the morning series was that between Waverly and White Hall, in which the latter won by the close score of 35 to 30. Both teams were evenly matched and the team work was excellent. Twice in the last half was the score tied and the spectators were on their toes most of the time. Waverly held their opponents and were in the lead up till eight minutes before the game was over. White Hall then got busy and D. Hyle ran up the score eight points and the Greene county lads kept ahead until the final whistle blew. It was one of the most exciting games of the entire tournament.

Springfield walked away with the Championships honors of the Western Illinois basketball tournament last night with flying colors, defeating White Hall in the final round by a score of 48 to 7. From the spectators' angle the game was uninteresting, the Capital City lads using the contest as a practice game for their second string men during the last half. As was conceded from the beginning of the tournament, Springfield had the best of the argument and the more they played the more the fact became evident. The wonderful showing of Manchester was commendable, while that of White Hall was equally great. No one picked White Hall to fight it out with Springfield for the final score. Springfield found easy pickings in Pawnee and Jerseyville. Altho Jacksonville was eliminated in their first game, the local fans loved the games thru and at night the gymnasium was filled to capacity. Much credit is due to the management for the splendid manner in which everything was carried out, there not being a hitch at any time. The work of the officials, T. M. Rand and Maurice Driggs was most commendable.

Gets to Keep Pennant.

By virtue of having won the pennant offered by Illinois college two times consecutively, Springfield will now get to possess the emblem. Those who have won it follow:

1912—Canton.
1913—Granite City.
1914—Abingdon.
1915—Springfield.
1916—Springfield.

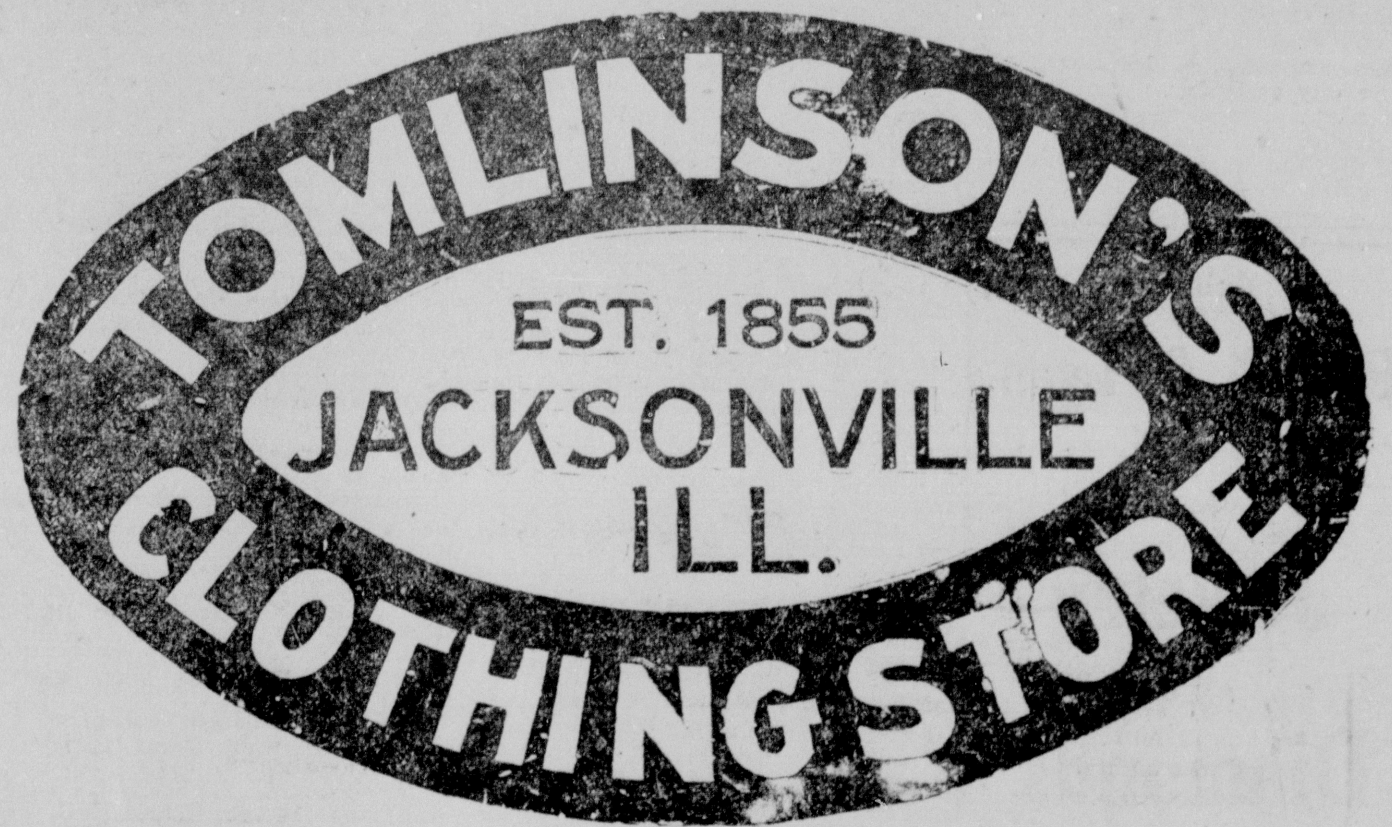

When it is taken into consideration that Manchester is a town of only 480 their team showing was wonderful. They have no gymnasium, no athletic coach and they only had the five men, with no substitutes to fall back on. There are only eleven boys in the school. Since Christmas the five have had the coaching of Prin. Wallace of Roodhouse, who offered free of charge his services. Considerable talk was indulged in concerning Green Lakin who was that to be playing against the rules, because of being over the age limit and had played professional baseball. In conversation with Mr. Lakin last night he said that he would be 19 years old next May and that he had never played professional baseball. Manchester was the hardest working bunch of five men, who ever went thru a tournament here and with so much credit to themselves.

Championship Game.

The Championship game was the most one sided since the district tournaments have been held in Jacksonville. White Hall was not fast enough to interest the Springfield lads. The game, however, when it began showed signs of being close, but five minutes later Springfield pulled away in fast fashion.

An Article on Stove Pipe Beds

Steel has advanced in price. Beds require a lot of steel, so someone has produced a "Stove Pipe Bed" posts of a light sheet steel. Looks about like any bed, but hasn't the strength and does not hold the Veris-Martin finish.

Beds require strength. A bed in use must sustain from four to six hundred pounds, including mattresses and springs.

We still sell the regular iron bed at the same prices, regardless of the advanced price in steel. Let us show you the most substantial made and best finished beds at no higher prices that you would have paid last year.

—And the ear could not tell the difference!

Christine Miller, the famous concert contralto, recently made a tour of the country singing with the New Edison Diamond Disc. Everywhere people were held spellbound by this daring test of tone re-creation, the ear could not distinguish the original from Edison's re-creation of it.

THE EDISON DIAMOND DISC PHONOGRAPH

Only Mr. Edison's perfected musical instrument could withstand such a test. No mere mechanical reproduction, but the re-creation of the original tone. The actual artist in all her artistry. A test which Edison's re-creation of any artist's voice or instrumental performance will sustain in actual comparison with the artist standing beside Edison's new instrument.

Due to the unusual large trade during the few days before Christmas we sold our entire stock of Edison Phonographs, but we placed orders promptly and now have a complete line of all styles and prices.

STRONG AND WEAK POINTS IN WILSON DEFENSE PLAN

Naval Program, as Outlined in Recent Speech, and Moderate Strengthening of Regular Army Are to Be Commended, But His Volunteer "Continental" Army of Reserves Would Fail to Materialize.

(From the Spokane Spokesman-Review.)

President Wilson's address before the Manhattan club is a work of high literary finish. As an administration message it was wonderfully well done, outlining with great clarity the president's program for national defense and vining with high ability the nation's deep desire to befriend the whole world, to abstain resolutely from wars of aggression and to engage only in preparedness to defend itself against invasion and maintain the liberties of the American people.

The president well says that "it has been American policy time out of mind to look to the navy as the first and chief line of defense," and that, "chief of all, we should have a definite policy of development, not made from year to year, but looking well into the future and planning for a definite consummation."

The administration's naval program, embracing as it does the building of enough first class fighting ships and essential luxuries such as scout ships, submarines and aircraft, to give the nation a sea defense second only to that of Great Britain, and of a fighting force that would deter any power from attempted invasion, is sound and deserves the enthusiastic support of the nation.

The Serious Flaw.

To be cordially approved also is the president's recommendation that the regular army be strengthened moderately in numbers and to the utmost efficiency, and that both navy have ample equipment of guns, ammunition and supplies of every needed description. In brief, that our preparedness shall be complete and well rounded, so that if we should face hostile forces nothing would be lacking down to the minutest detail.

For the moment of first shock the regular army would be the country's second line of defense, but the real and sustaining second line would be the reserves, and here is the serious flaw in the administration's program. A continental army, to be credited to 400,000 in three annual installments of 133,000, is proposed by the president. These 400,000 reserves are expected to come forward voluntarily. The whole plan is dependent on the expectation that the volunteer stream will have enough volume to fill the enlarged regular army, to keep the national guard or militia force recruited constantly to its existing or amplified strength, to supply the additional officers and men needed for the enlarged navy and then now on with sufficient head to supply annually and perpetually 133,000 new recruits for the continental army.

Volunteer Plan Unjust.

It is gravely to be questioned if the volunteer stream would be sufficiently large and sufficiently constant to insure the success of the administration program. The president is therefore asking that his defense structure shall be built on uncertainty and essential injustice, for it is unjust to throw the whole burden of national defense on the volunteer and leave the smirker care free and immune from duty.

Here shows the finching trait that is so strong in Mr. Wilson. He flinches and falls short of facing his problem with the far vision and the resolute determination of the constructive statesman, if the president's premises are sound. (The Spokesman-Review believes they are.) If the nation needs large, certain and constant preparedness against the peril of assault and invasion, it should build that preparedness on foundations of certainty and fairness.

In the Swiss system of general and compulsory training of the young manhood of the country we are offered these firm foundations. It is preparedness without militarism. It is democratic, the youth that is rich, the well to do and the poor touching shoulders in a common bond of patriotic duty. And it would give this nation a reserve force so ample, so constant and so charged with warning that there could not be found upon the globe a power sufficiently formidable and reckless as to challenge the peace, the integrity and the popular institutions of the 100,000,000 people living beneath the folds of the stars and stripes.

WILL INCORPORATE NO RADICAL CHANGES IN 1916 FOOTBALL CODE

Two Conferences of Intercollegiate Rules Committee Close in New York.

New York, Feb. 26.—No radical changes will be incorporated in the football code for 1916, as the result of the two conferences of the intercollegiate football rules' committee which closed here today. The suggestion to make a mandatory rule requiring all players to wear numbers in each game was discussed, but no formal vote was taken on the proposition, according to Walter Camp, secretary of the committee.

Opposition to the scheme from a number of the larger eastern and middle western university coaches is understood to have developed. The claim was made that to number the players would destroy the strategical value of the game, since scouts from rival colleges would easily solve the complicated offensive and defensive moves built around certain players if the chief factors plainly were identified by numbers. The rules in general were gone over carefully and a number of changes made both in phraseology and in substance. Another change makes it allowable for a player to push an opponent out of the way in order to secure a kicked ball which by fumbling has become a free ball.

It was further ruled that a guard, center or tackle to be eligible to receive a forward pass must be at the end of the line of scrimmage when the ball is put into play. In the case of receiver of such a pass standing with one foot on or over the side line and touching the ball which then bounds into the field of play the ball is ruled out of bounds.

It was decided that a foul committed by a defending side behind its own goal line which deprives opponent of an opportunity to secure a free ball shall result in a touchdown for the offended team. If, however, the foul is committed while the ball is in the air the penalty shall be a safety.

Where the defaulting side makes an uncompleted forward pass from behind its own goal line on the first, second or third down, which is grounded behind the line or hits goal posts or bar, it shall count as a safety; on the fourth down it goes to the opponents at the point of scrimmage. A forward pass made by attacking team on first, second or third downs hitting goal posts or bar becomes a touchback, on fourth goes to opposing eleven at point of scrimmage.

INGRATITUDE.

"The people in the county jail are hard to please," observed the deputy sheriff. "You'd think they'd be happy as the day is long, sitting around in a comfortable jail in the cold winter months, with vittals brought to them twice a day, and no bills to pay for board or lodging. You'd also think they'd be grateful to the people, who provide them with such a cozy retreat, and to the officials who take care of them."

"But they are a discontented bunch. Every man thinks he ought to have a feather bed, and a private bath, and an extension telephone, and the way they all find fault with the grub would break your heart. They actually kick because they have beans at every meal. I carried an encyclopedia into the bullpen the other day, and read aloud an article on beans, showing that one pound of them has more nutriment than a dozen storage eggs, or five pounds of beef, but it didn't make any impression on them. They won't listen to reason."

"There are so many doggone ingrates in the world that a man gets tired trying to do good," said the hotelkeeper. "The other day Joel Binswanger came to me and said he couldn't get work, and his wife and children were crying for bread, and unless something happened he'd have to go to the poorhouse."

"I had a lot of canned vegetables down in the cellar, that I bought at a sacrifice sale last summer. The chef opened a few cans when I got them, and he said that while the contents were wholesome, and likely to make hair grow on bald heads, they were a little off color, and would hardly do to dish up in a fashionable hotel like this."

"I charged the lot up to profit and loss, and never thought of it again until Binswanger recited off his tale of horror, and I was casting about for some way to help him. Then I remembered the canned vegetables, and I led Joel down to the cellar, and showed him the lot, and invited him to take all he wanted. I naturally thought he'd be hysterical with gratitude. But he looked over the collection as tho he tho't I was trying to throw the harpoon into him, and said he supposed, of course, that I'd deliver the goods at his house."

"I told him if he wanted the goods he'd have to carry them away, and he packed off a few cans of tomatoes and peas. A couple of days later he was around here asking me whether I'd pay the damages down, or go to law. He claimed that those canned goods doubled up his whole family with ptomaine poisoning, and he had consulted a lawyer, who said I could be touched for $5,000."

"The way Mr. Binswanger went out of the front door, and landed on a brickpile across the street, was the talk of the town all that day."

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

Chief James Bluejacket who used to pastime with Bloomington in the Three Eye league has written that he wants to play in Bloomington again. Bluejacket was with Bloomington in the federal league last season and pitched the best ball of his career. Bluejacket is a lot better pitcher than some who are still in the big show and it would not be surprising if some team picks him up. If he should go to Bloomington again he will do much to keep that team in the running as he would breeze thru the Three Eye class in his present form.

Some days ago Joe Tinker went down to Peoria and arranged to take an interest in the Three Eye league team of that city. Joe attended a big meeting in the city hall and hounded with the fans of the distillery city. He told the fans he could furnish them with ten first-class ball players. No one doubts but that Tinker can make good but the question is will it be good policy for the league. The past two seasons have been disastrous ones in the Three Eye circuit. As a result, Springfield, Danville and Danbury are out of baseball. The way is going to be rocky and it is the intention of club owners in the circuit to retrench this season.

As a result of Tinker's visit to Peoria the other clubs are beginning to show signs of uneasiness. The salary limit for this year has been fixed at $1,800. Good players can be secured within that limit. But doubt is expressed whether Tinker can furnish ten players, most of whom have been taken up to the big show for a tryout, inside the limit. We are inclined to doubt that he can, especially with Artie Hoffman as manager. Hoffman while he has gone back is still a great ball player and able to command a bigger salary than can be paid in the Three Eye. It will be well for Peoria fans to study the situation carefully else they may find when July 4th rolls around they will be the only club that has weathered the storm.

David Altizer who comes from the wilds of Pike county has again signed a contract with Minneapolis. Altizer announced his retirement from the game last fall but could not withstand the call and also probably the salary. Altizer is a great ball player and has been going at a good gait for a great many years. He went up to the big show once but was not quite up to major league caliber. However, he has been a valuable man in American association and has proved one of Canton's most valuable men the past few years.

Fritz Smithson of Merritt, who pitched two games for Merritt here last fall will leave soon to join the Detroit Americans for the spring training. Smithson went to Detroit a year ago but was sent to the minors for further seasoning. He has everything that a good pitcher should have, physique, speed and curves, his only weakness being lack of control. If Smithson gets control we predict that he will make good with Jennings and prove one of the sensations of the American league.

A merry war is going on between the Three Eye league and the Central association about Rock Island. President Justice of the Central has arranged to place a team in Rock Island. The Three Eye claims that Rock Island is in their territory, and President Tierney of the Three Eye says the matter will be fought to a finish. In the mean time the fans in Rock Island do not seem to show much interest and it is doubtful if they care much whether they have a team or not.

The other night Leach Cross of York took the count in a battle with Milburn Saylor at Cincinnati. The finish came in the fifth round after Cross had been knocked down a half dozen times. We have seen Saylor fight. We saw the wallop he handed Harry Donahue in Peoria about a year ago. Believe as Saylor has some kick and when he lands it it is usually curtains for the other fellow. The surprising thing to us is that Cross weathered more than one of them.

Leach Cross has been fighting many years. He has mixed with all of the good ones and all of the champions and near champions. Sometimes he looked like an in and out fighter, but usually he always gave a good account of himself. He was a fighter, every inch of him and no one had a license to take liberties with him while in the ring. He narrowly missed being the champion lightweight of the world several times. In his career Cross has taken some severe beatings and it is probable that old father time who will not be denied has as much to do with his finish last week as anything else.

Hub Perdue has drawn his unconditional release from the St. Louis Cardinals. Hub used to pastime with Vincennes under Eddie Kolt in the old Kitty league. He was one of the best pitchers in the circuit but after the first trip to Jacksonville he was never very successful against the home team. We remember the day George Hall, who was then scout for the Cubs, looked him over at west side park. On that day we played a double header with Vincennes. The first game went fifteen innings with Akers and Farred on the mound, Jacksonville winning in the fifteen to a 2. The second game was a seven inning affair and Perdue opposed Big Bill Fox. Fox was at his best and Vincennes was an easy victim, Jacksonville hitting Perdue hard. Despite that fact, however, Huff recommended Perdue to the Cubs. He went on the training trip the next spring but was left in the Southern league. He then went up again, joining the Boston Braves. He went from there to St. Louis in a trade. Perdue pitched good ball for both Boston and St. Louis. He must be getting along in years now, but he probably still has several years of service good enough for the Southern league.

WAVERLY BASKETBALL TEAM

Second row—Roland Rogers, forward; Anna Swift, forward; Lowell Hughes, center.

The Waverly basketball team was one of the squads that was watched with much interest by local fans. Dopists had it figured out that the team would get into the finals. Considering the short time since basketball was inaugurated at Waverly, the five have made a wonderful showing, and the work of Coach Colbert has certainly been commendable.

NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY FOR SALES PAYS WELL

The bad road conditions have not served to interfere materially with public sales held during recent weeks but have made the posting of bills much more difficult. As a result, farmers are depending more and more on the newspapers for their sale publicity. A public sale advertisement in the Journal reaches more than 2,000 farm homes in Morgan county, and in no other way can so much sale publicity be secured for a like expenditure. Farmers are more and more realizing the advantage of newspaper advertising as securing the most results from the least expenditure.

REV. E. B. LANDIS WILL BEGIN WESTMINSTER PASTORATE TODAY

New Minister and Family Arrived in City Saturday—Will Hold Regular Church Services Today.

Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Landis and two children arrived in Jacksonville Saturday afternoon and are at home of Miss Anne McCormick on Grove street. They will be there until the Westminster parsonage is ready for their occupancy. Rev. Mr. Landis will preach the first sermon of his pastorate in Westminster church this morning and the regular church service program will be followed, with evening services at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Landis completed his theological studies at the Divinity school of the University of Chicago, where he graduated in 1903, receiving his A. M. degree. He was for a year engaged in mission work in the city of Chicago, at the same time taking a course in sociology at the university. After leaving Chicago, Mr. Landis served churches in the Mattoon and Bloomington presbyteries and was for a short time in Kentucky. For about four years he has been pastor of the church at Danvers and his work there has been successful in a large degree. During one evangelistic meeting there were forty church accessions. Mr. Landis has been prominent in the Sunday school work of Mattoon county and was chairman of the adult department. As a part of this work he made a religious survey of Mattoon county, which attracted a great deal of interest. In addition to his pastoral work Mr. Landis has often appeared on chautauqua platforms and as a farm institute speaker. Most of his farm institute addresses relate to conditions prevailing in village and country life.

The people of Westminster were very much pleased with him personally and with the sermons delivered at the church several weeks ago, and are looking forward to a helpful period of renewed church activity.

MAVERICKS

In time of peace prepare for war. Some old philosopher said. But we believe before its done Most of us will be dead.

A lot of good news space has been wasted in the local papers the past week.

The steel corporations seem to be doing fairly well despite the trust laws and other things put in their way.

The only resemblance that General prosperity has to General preparedness is in the first letter of each word.

Considering the present condition of things we are wondering why anybody wants to be a member of the board of education.

If the money it takes to maintain the public welfare department in Chicago was distributed among the unemployed it would help materially in buying bread and beef steak.

Amos is Surely Improving. An exchange says, Amos Jones is said to shave himself and take in old clothes line and is improving wonderfully.

Time was when a game with Waverly or Manchester would have been just a practice game for the local high school basketball five. Now the tables are turned and they practice on our team.

We imagine that Mr. Root feels pretty bad because J. Ham Lewis assisted him in a speech in the United States senate.

While women have only been voting a very short time in Illinois they seem to have become familiar with the political game if one is to judge from the present trouble in Chicago.

Mr. Bryan in his Commoner describes President Wilson's preparedness policy as revolutionary. Mr. Bryan should know the definition of revolutionary as he revolutionized the Democratic party with his free silver propaganda in 1896.

A lot of people are calling attention to the fact that President Wilson when he was elected was opposed to a second term for president. There need be no alarm about the matter for probably there are several million people already convinced that there is no danger of Mr. Wilson being re-elected.

The effects of the Ford peace party's trip to Europe has not yet become apparent.

One swallow doesn't make a summer. Neither do nine star ball players make a pennant winner.

Pitchers with curves and speed to burn. An infield that was lightning fast. Outfielders who could bust the fences. And yet—They finished last.

It looks as tho there is need of some one to look after the welfare of the department of public welfare in Chicago.

An exchange carries a headline, "Open Season on Waterfoul Here."

There would seem to be some justification for a man whose birthday falls on Feb. 29, getting soured in honor of the event.

Believe It or Not.

Dahlone, Ga., Feb. 24.—In the mountains, ten miles from here, taxen officers yesterday cut down a moonshine still and poured a quantity of beer into a well. Last night Charlie Gaddis and Jack and Homer Wehant tried to dip the beer out. All three slipped into the well and drowned in the beer before rescuers arrived.

Speaking of preparedness, we wonder if Billy Bryan is not preparing for the Democratic convention.

Knowing Major Dalton as well as we do we would place a bet that "pay-up" week did not bother him much.

Sheriff Wheeler made a raid on his old home town, Auburn, the other day and captured several bootleggers. Mr. Wheeler should know where to locate the law violators in his former home town when he was mayor there it had the reputation of being one of the worst towns in Illinois, where anything could be pulled off from a dog fight to a prize fight.

Being a city employe in Chicago seems to be a rather expensive proposition.

Evidently Billy Lorimer is still a well known citizen in Chicago. They went out to the walls of Cicero the other day to get the eighth member of the jury to try his case.

Chief Healey has decided that one can have one drink after 1 a. m. in Chicago. That should be sufficient for it probably would make one hundred and one for some of Chicago's residents.

The state food commissioner says that the law against bad eggs is to be strictly enforced. If it is we fear it may catch some members of the legislature as we judge from reports of the proceedings of that body that some of them are real bad eggs.

Perceval Chubb was loaded with an unkindly name by his parents. Despite this he has been able to make progress in the world as was attested by his address before the Drama league Friday evening.

I have had three children and could not raise any of them, but since I have taken the Compound I have had a bright baby boy. I advise every suffering woman to try it and get relief. GRIDIRON CLUB HOLDS SECOND WINTER DINNER PROJECTS ITSELF INTO CONVENTION ACTIVITIES.

In a Make-Believe Railway Station Actor Members of Club Satirize the Follies of Some of Their Guests and Some Well Known Men Not in Attendance.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The Gridiron club tonight at its second dinner of the winter, projected itself into the convention activities of next June and helped a distinguished party of presidential candidates and candidates board a train for Chicago and St. Louis to meet the fates awaiting them there. In a make-believe railway station the actor members of the club satirized the follies of some of their guests and some well-known men who were not present.

President Wilson was among those who looked on and he may have received an intimation of the operation which he will meet later in the year. Vice President Marshall, the secretaries of state, navy and interior, the Brazilian ambassador, the Chinese and Bolivian ministers, several members of the senate and house, officers of the army and navy, and a number of the most notable figures in the nation's financial and industrial life were present.

The most ambitious of several sketches presented by the club was the political one. Scrambles to make trains, strange traveling companions, and ticket complexities that contounded the railway gatekeepers offered extraordinary opportunities for fun making. Passing thru the Chicago gate were regular and progressive republicans, characters representing former senators Burton and Beveridge, former Vice President railroads, Senators Sherman, Borah, Cummins, Weeks and Penrose, representative Cannon, former President Roosevelt, William Barnes and George W. Perkins of New York. thru the St. Louis gate passed Secretary McAdoo, Postmaster General Burleson, Charles W. Murphy of New York and William Jennings Bryan.

The first passenger to reach the Chicago train was recognized by one of the two gatekeepers as Senator Burton. Nervous and fuddled, he inquired if he were too late and appeared greatly relieved when told that he was "leading the parade."

You won't be too late till you get to Chicago," he was informed as the gatekeeper punched his ticket.

Next came a passenger for St. Louis who was hailed as Secretary McAdoo. He presented a weird looking ticket, finally recognized as mileage, which the gatekeeper examined laboriously. Muttering that it seemed "as complicated as the shipping bill," the gatekeeper asked if a mistake hadn't been made. Its intricacies were explained by methods of addition and subtraction, and the passenger passed through grinning. The gatekeeper, recovering, remarked to his pal: "That wasn't no railroad ticket; that was today's treasury statement."

Among the next batch of passengers was a tall, heavy set man, carrying a broken plank under his arm, who tried to crowd through the St. Louis gateway.

"Hey, Mr. Speaker," expostulated the gatekeeper, "this ticket ain't no good. It reads for Baltimore. And it's four years old."

"I knew it!" shouted the passenger, who resembled Champ Clark. Bill heard told me to try to work it off, but the darn ticket never was any good."

The speaker finally got thru on "Missouri mileage," but the plank became wedged in the gateway. As he tried to disengage it, he explained that it "came out of the Baltimore cyclone," and was the last surviving bit of the one-term plank. They asked him what good it was, and he replied that he was "merely following T. R.'s advice—Learn to crawl, but always carry a life preserver."

Vice President Marshall, extremely nervous was closely followed by Senator Lewis of Illinois.

"I ought to be nervous," he explained. "To follow me all the time. He followed me up to the rostrum in the senate today and almost sat in the chair."

Former Vice President Fairbanks, displaying a handful of tickets for a group of delegates "locked up in the baggage" car of the Chicago special came next. He wanted to leave a few more tickets for any stray delegates who "might relish a little transportation." He was closely followed by two men described by one of the guards in a stage whisper, as "the two wickedest men in the world."

Uncle Joe Cannon and Boies Penrose. The impersonator of Senator Penrose asked: "Is this the regular train?" and was assured by the gatekeeper that "everything is regular this year." Penrose wanted to know if the gatekeeper had seen any one by the name of Roosevelt having around.

"I heard he was going," the Senator mused. "T. R. did me a great favor once—he made some speeches for Pinchot."

"Uncle Joe," urging the senator to hurry, asked if he expected to pay Mr. Roosevelt's fare.

"I'm willing—if he'll use the ticket I buy," was the answer.

Senator Weeks came along with a great bag which he said was full of New England delegates. He was told to check it, but warned not to let Sam McCall know where he put the check. Next came a passenger, greeted as General Burleson, dangling a string of dummies which he referred to as postmasters. They caused the gatekeeper to wonder if "General Burleson" had adopted Frank Hitchcock's children.

George W. Perkins was followed by George W. Perkins, and they made a great commotion. Perkins was carrying a bag, which he said was so light it kept flying out of his hands.

The gatekeeper asked what was in it. "Ephraim's diet," replied the bogus Roosevelt. "I'm going to feed it to the Republicans."

The gatekeeper pointed out that Colonel Roosevelt's ticket was for the Progressive train and dated 1912, but the Colonel told him he talked "like a Byrdline logothite." Perkins had no ticket. He was mercy to see the Colonel on the train, he explained.

"Yes, and I'll see him off—at the first tressie," exclaimed the next passenger, familiarly greeted as Bill Barnes. This passenger waved an axe, which he called "an olive branch," to be presented to someone "between the fourth and fifth vertebrae."

Time was up and the gates closed when in rushed William J. Bryan. He carried a shotgun on which was mounted a dove of peace, and excitedly told the gatekeeper that he had to get thru as he had important business on the St. Louis train. His ticket, the guard said, was only a half-rate clergyman's ticket, but gained his point and was allowed to slip thru the gate on his promise to "run" for the train.

"You'll have to be some runner," commented the gatekeeper. "I am," replied Bryan, as he darted away. "Been running for twenty years."

After the gates were relocked two negroes entered. They explained they were delegates from "the sunny south" and wanted to go to Chicago.

"This here station is closed for the season," the gatekeeper replied. "If you wanta go to Chicago you got to walk. W-A-L-K, walk!"

Other features of the evening's entertainment were a pantomime portraying Colonel Roosevelt shying his hat into an imaginary ring, a song to the Chinese minister, sung to the air of "Chinatown," and a parody on "Orpheus and Eurydice," with a stage setting depicting the lower regions.

IF I SHOULD DIE TONIGHT.

(To Rev. J. W. Elzholtz.)

If I should die tonight

My friends would look upon my quiet face,

Before they laid it in its resting-place,

And deem that death had left it almost at ease,

And laying snow-white flowers

against my hair,

Would smooth it down with tearful tenderness,

And hold my hands with lingering caress—

Poor hands, so empty and so cold tonight!

If I should die tonight,

My friends would call to mind, with loving thought,

Some kindly deed the icy hands had wrought,

Some gentle words the frozen lips

had said;

Errands on which the willing feet

had sped;

The memory of my selfishness and pride,

My hasty words, would all be put aside,

And so I should be loved and mourned tonight.

If I should die tonight,

Even hearts estranged would turn once more to me,

Recalling other days remorsefully;

The eyes that chilled me with averted glance

Would look upon me as of yore, perchance.

And soften in the old familiar way;

For who could war with dumb unconscious clay?

So I might rest, forgiven of all tonight.

Oh, friends, I pray tonight,

Keep not your kisses for my dead, cold brow!

The way is lonely, let me feel the now.

Think gently of me, I am travel

worn;

My faltering feet are pierced with many a thorn,

Forgive, O hearts estranged, forgive

I plead;

When dreamless sleep is mine, I shall not need

The tenderness for which I long tonight.

STILL PROGRESSING.

A few months ago the Journal made some quotations from a Providence, Rhode Island paper regarding the remarkable success of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rawlings, the latter a native of this county, with a 1000 acres of abandoned land in the state of Rhode Island. Since that was written Mr. Rawlings had added another branch of business in the shape of a mill to grind Johnny cake flour from ordinary corn. So popular has the product become it brings $1.25 a bushel net for the corn used. Mr. Rawlings also has an automobile for delivering his product and from some sweet corn he cleared $200 a acre in roasting ears delivered at Providence. He has also been entrusted with the tax collectorship of his vicinity.

RATS.

An exchange says: Luther Hornbeek tried the latest fad in killing rats at his home near Winchester by attaching a hose to the exhaust of his automobile and sticking the hose under the corn crib. When the engine of the car was started it sure got the rats to moving. Mr. Hornbeek had some assistants there with clubs and a few dogs, expecting great fun when the rats sought liberty, but instead of coming out the contrivance seemed to knock the air out of them or rather into them, and they soon keeled over like anyone taking gas. The casualty list was about 16 rats, two mice and others unaccounted for.

JAMES E. BABB MADE GREAT ADDRESS TO IDAHO REPUBLICANS

Paid Honor to Lincoln and Showed How Some of Great Emancipator's Principles are Neglected by Present Administration.

The Idaho Statesman, of Boise, put James E. Babb of Lewistown, Idaho, in the headlines of the report of the Lincoln day program in the Idaho capital. Mr. Babb, who is recognized as one of the bright men of the west, is prominent not only as a lawyer but in a literary way. Mr. Babb graduated from Illinois college in 1882, being a student in the college along with Richard Yates and William J. Bryan. He came to the college from Champaign county. The Statesman had the following with reference to his address:

"The beacon lights of Republicanism blazed brilliantly at the Lincoln Day banquet at the Owyhee Saturday night. Not in many a day has there been such an assemblage of party leaders."

A rousing reception was given to James E. Babb of Lewistown, who responded to the toast of Lincoln, and a still greater outburst of appreciation greeted him when he closed. He spoke without note, and his address was a classic. Showing a remarkable familiarity with his subject and an accurate memory for dates and events, he reviewed the life of Lincoln in the most entertaining and forceful manner, showing all its strength and its influence upon American history.

"There was reason why Idaho should do homage to Lincoln, said Mr. Babb, because it was he who created Idaho territory. There was still living Judge Samuel C. Parks, an alumnus of the University of Indiana, who was a member of Idaho's first supreme bench. President Lincoln established Fort Lapwai, near Lewistown."

"The most striking characteristic of the great emancipator was his extreme simplicity. Thru that characteristic he appealed to all. Next to that the most dominant note in his makeup was his fidelity to equality. He bore praise and contumely with equal poise. He was as strong in the hour of defeat as he was in victory."

"Lincoln's greatest gift to this country, said the speaker, was the Fourteenth amendment to the constitution. The great party of which he was the first bulwark still stood for the principles of equality, a fair start for all in the race of life and a fair race."

"Under the present national administration, Mr. Babb declared, conditions obtained against which Lincoln often inveighed. The chairmanships of 18 of the most important committees in congress were held by nine states, and eight of the nine were southern states. These states represented but one-fifth of the population and only one-seventh of the wealth of the nation, yet they ruled. Virginia, with 19 representatives in congress, had four committee chairmanships. Thirty-two states of the Union had none. Virginia had two million population and three billion in wealth while the 31 states unrepresented in chairmanships had sixty million population and one hundred and forty-eight billion in wealth. The 31 states so slighted had more votes than were necessary to elect a president and it required no perspicacity to see that they would elect one this year."

"The Underwood tariff, like all Democratic tariffs, had proved a failure. It had increased the cost of living and produced a huge national debt, which the juggling of accounts by the secretary of the treasury could not conceal."

"Platform pledges meant nothing to the administration. Civil service had been broken down notwithstanding the sacred promises of Democracy. No Democratic president had ever appointed a Republican to the supreme bench, but many a Democrat had been so honored by Republican presidents."

Bank Cashier Almost a Wreck—How He Regained Strength.

Jacksonville people will realize that this is one more link in the wonderful chain of evidence proving that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic has no equal to create strength.

Mr. Chas. A. Ogle, Monrovia, Md., says:

"For many years I was a school teacher, then for three years was Deputy Clerk in Frederick County, Md. and for the last three years I have been Cashier of the First National Bank. My nerves got in such a bad condition, and with poor assimilation of food, I was fast becoming a physical and mental wreck. Seeing an advertisement for Vinol I purchased a bottle, and found it to be exactly what I needed. It has not only benefited my nerves, but built me up both mentally and physically, and I want to recommend it to anyone suffering as I did."

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Lee P. Allcott, Druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.—Adv.

me examine you and see if you can be cured by this new system of treatment. I will give you an examination, my professional opinion and advice free of charge.

This new system of treatment is very successful in all curable forms of chronic disease. It gives immediate relief to irritation and weakness of the muscles and nerves of the heart. I absolutely believe that I can cure almost every case of acute and chronic rheumatism, no matter in what form or how much you have suffered. It removes the rheumatic poison from the blood. This treatment cures kidney irritation and diseases of the bladder and all forms of weakness of these organs. It is very successful in blood diseases skin troubles, such as eczema, pimples, etc. It gives immediate relief to stomach troubles and nervous diseases.

I want you to understand that I do not pretend to cure every case of these troubles. If the disease has too badly destroyed the structures before I see the case, I cannot do so. This is why it is necessary for me to make a personal examination of each case. I must see exactly what the trouble is, then I can tell you positively whether or not I can relieve you. I treat all curable forms of chronic diseases and weaknesses of the eyes, falling sight, catarrh and deafness, head noises and sick headaches. If you suffer, come and see me. There will be no charge for my services to all who call this trip. I am making regular visits to Jacksonville each month and I want to examine and treat as many people as possible to show them that my new system of treating disease is the most scientific treatment. Remember, I invite every sufferer, rich or poor, to call on this trip. It may mean everything to you. Let me demonstrate my new system of treatment. Office hours 9 to 12; 1 to 5; and 7 to 8.

NOIAN'S SKELETON UNEARTHED BY WORKMEN AT MEREDOSIA

Find Stones While Excavating for Foundation—High School Students Present Play—Other Meredosia Items.

While Harry Hall and Will Hyatt were excavating for the foundation of Mr. Hall's new residence in Lake view addition this week they unearthed the skeleton of an Indian. It was in a sitting position and in striking the skull with the spades broke it in several pieces, but the teeth were in a fairly preserved condition. The skeleton no doubt is one hundred years old as Meredosia is the oldest town in the state and was first inhabited by the Indians. Several arrow points have also been found. As there are a number of new residences soon to be built in this addition many are anxiously waiting to see what the digging into the mounds will bring forth. A number of years ago near this place five Indian skeletons were found buried in a circle facing each other and in a sitting position.

High School Play.

The fourth number of the high school course was given at the Ray opera house in Meredosia Thursday evening.

The students of the high school presented the temperance drama, "Dot, the Miner's Daughter," in four acts, to a crowded house notwithstanding the bad conditions of the roads. The play was full of deep interest and mirth throughout and was given in a creditable manner by the students participating. They so forcibly brought out the sentiment of the characters they represented that it was that by many that no amateurs could have excelled them. Much credit is due Prof. O. W. Gould and wife in the training of the students and their untiring efforts in making the play the great success that it was. Model 75, Roadster $595—f. o. b. Toledo

Never Before Such An Instantaneous And Sensational Success

From every state in the Union we hear of the amazing success of the latest Overland—the $615 model.

At the New York and Chicago Automobile Shows—the two great national automobile events of the year—the $615 Overland was the most widely discussed model exhibited.

And why not? An electrically started and electrically lighted completely equipped Overland with four-inch tires for only $615!

Is there any wonder this car took the whole country by storm?

Season after season for seven years we have experienced one great success after another.

But this one tops them all.

No other achievement in the history of the entire industry parallels this record.

It stands out alone—boldly—conspicuously—unapproached.

Never before has an automobile success been so rapid, so definite and so sweeping.

The $615 Overland has made history. It marks the entrance of a new automobile value—a car complete in every sense of the term at a price which was hitherto thought impossible.

Yet here it is—a powerful five-passenger touring car complete for only $615.

Note that word "complete."

This means electric starter and electric lights, electric horn, magnetic speedometer—in fact, every necessary item. Nothing is lacking. There are no "extras" to buy.

Note that the motor is the very latest on bloc design—the last word in fine engineering.

In addition note that the tires are four-inch size. This is another big advantage. Many cars costing more have smaller tires.

Note that the rear springs are the famous cantilever type. Another advantage. Cantilever springs mean the utmost in riding comfort.

Note the headlight dimmers—the electric control buttons on steering column—demountable rims and one-man top. These are all big advantages.

This newest Overland is light in weight, easy to handle and very economical to operate.

It's just the car the world has been waiting for.

It is large enough for the whole family—moderately priced, within the reach of the majority—economical to maintain—built of the best quality materials—snappy, stylish and speedy—and complete in every sense.

In short, it is just another striking example of how our larger production enables us to build a bigger and better car and still keep the price within reason.

You'll want one, so order it now.

Don't wait, debate or argue with yourself. See that your order is placed immediately.

Then in a few days you and your whole family will be driving your own car.

Remember it comes complete—only $615!

"ONLY ATE RAW EGGS" SAID LADY

Mrs. Clara Van Natten Suffered From Indigestion and Stomach Trouble.

TANLAC RELIEVED HER.

"I almost feel like another person," said Mrs. Clara VanNatten, who resides at 1226 Brown street, Springfield, Ill., while discussing Tanlac, the "Master Medicine," now being introduced in Jacksonville, and the great relief which she had obtained from the use of this preparation.

"Before I heard of Tanlac," continued Mrs. VanNatten, "my whole system was in a most deplorable condition. This came about from a weak stomach and inability of my digestive organs to take care of my food properly, which trouble was of long standing. My sleep was never sound and I felt weak and worn out most of the time. I had about given up hopes of obtaining any relief when I saw Tanlac advertised and decided to try a bottle.

"I bought a bottle of the medicine and began its use. The results were a great surprise to me. I feel so much better and seem to have new life and energy. Before I began taking Tanlac I could only eat raw eggs and drink a little milk without fear of suffering, but now I can enjoy radishes and other foods that are hard to digest, without the least inconvenience.

"It gives me the greatest of pleasure to recommend Tanlac, as it has brought me wonderful relief and I am sure it will help anyone who is troubled as I was."

Tanlac, the "Master Medicine," is now being sold in Jacksonville at the drug store of Coover & Shreve.—Adv.

ACIDS IN STOMACH SOUR THE FOOD AND CAUSE INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Fixes Sour, Gassy, Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach, headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order, stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, and each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.—Adv.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff caused a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.—Adv.

MAMMA! DON'T YOU SEE YOUR CHILD IS SICK, CONSTIPATED

Look at Tongue! Move Poisons from Liver and Bowels at Once.

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. Good, tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a clean and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good inside cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the California Fig Syrup Co.—Adv.

WHY not give your lad the same training?

"When I was a growing lad, and came upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother, instead of giving me the definition which I applied to her, unfailingly sent me to the dictionary to learn it, and in this way I gradually learned many things besides the meaning of the individual word in question—among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great pleasure and advantage there might be in the use of the dictionary. Afterwards, when I went to the village school, my chief diversion, after lessons were learned and before they were recited, was in turning over the pages of the 'Random' of those days. Now the most modern unabridged—the NEW INTERNATIONAL—gives me a pleasure of the same sort. So far as my knowledge extends, it is at present the best of the one-volume dictionaries, and quite sufficient for all ordinary uses. Even those who possess the splendid dictionaries in several volumes will yet find it a great convenience to have this, which is so compact, so full, and so trustworthy as to leave in most cases a little to be desired."—Albert B. Maternity! The Word of Words And What a World of Help There is By a Little Timely Knowledge

It is written into life's expectations that motherhood is the one sublime accomplishment. And if it is anything, no matter how simple, how apparently trivial it may seem, if it can aid, help, assist or in any way comfort the expectant mother, it is a blessing. And such is a remedy called "Mother's Friend." You apply it over the stomach muscles. It is gently rubbed on the surface, and makes expansion takes place without undue effort upon the nerves. And as the time approaches, the mind has gone through a period of repose, of gentle expectancy, and this has an unquestioned influence upon the future child. That this is true is evidenced by the fact that three generations of mothers have used and recommended "Mother's Friend." Ask your nearest druggist for a bottle of this splendid remedy. He will get it for you. And then write to Broad Road, Co., 867 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most interesting book of information to prospective mothers. It is mailed free. Write today. It is a book you will enjoy. It is replete with important and timely facts such as a description of the nerves, muscles and parts involved, the strange mystery of a new baby, the law of contagion, first puerperal, puerperal, puerperal, a maternity chart, diet list and many other subjects briefly told but of value to all women and particularly so to one who is to become a mother. It is mailed free to all who write for it.

Statement By the Faculty of the Jacksonville High School

We, the faculty of the Jacksonville high school, kindly ask your paper to publish the following letter:

Because of published statements that have been made, and in justice to ourselves and to our superintendent we have decided to make a statement to the public concerning the administration of our high school and to let you judge for yourselves as to the truth or falsity of the aforesaid published statements.

We have an organization known as the Literary and Athletic Association. This association has a thoroughly modern constitution under which we do business. The three divisions of business are: Athletic, Literary and School Paper. The Athletic comprises football, basketball and track. The Literary comprises the two societies, namely, Forum and Adelphean. Both of these departments are aided by the musical department, which is made up of the band and orchestra, glee club and treble clef. The paper included the Nautilus and the Annual.

The officers who look after all these different departments are made up of students, with a faculty manager over each department; and each department has its own committee. Each manager runs his department subject to his committee, and in every case they do not agree upon any point the manager or committee can appeal to the executive committee, which is made up of all the student officers and the faculty.

The president of the association and the presidents of the societies, the captains of all the athletic teams and the chairman of most of the committees are students, and in none of these offices or committees is the principal, from his office, chairman. The principal has the veto powers granted by the constitution of the Literary and Athletic association, but has never used it.

We do give Mr. Collins credit for having had much to do with the forming of these organizations at the beginning three years ago. However, since that time the business of the departments has been carried on by the students; a faculty member of each department, who are held responsible for the work and the results. The superintendent takes part only at the request of either a student or a teacher. They consult him only in cases of some new constructive work or as to some dissatisfaction, should the latter arise. It is the most nearly complete organization we have ever had, and never have we had quite so free a hand in the department in which we work.

Great Freedom Prevails. In the classes, the greatest of freedom prevails, both as to the manner of teaching and in the text books we use. Individually in our work is permitted. Since Mr. Collins has been principal no book has been introduced in the various departments, with the exception of civics, which he, himself, had expected to teach, unless we have approved and consented to the same. Usually he has left us to choose our own text books. This freedom of action has made it possible for the teachers of the same departments to work together as one group and to greatly enlarge the work of each department. When Mr. Collins came here the commercial department occupied two small rooms in the garret of the high school building, with about sixty-five students taking the work. We now have nearly 200 students in this department and three of the largest and best equipped rooms are required to accommodate these students.

In the athletic department we have made rapid strides. We are endeavoring to secure higher scholarship and higher morals thru this department by requiring those who take part in athletics to be in good standing in conduct and scholarship. On the other hand, we are using this department to keep those boys and girls in school, to build up their scholarship and their desire for further education.

Moral Tone Improved. While we claim that we have made much improvement in the above named lines since Mr. Collins came to Jacksonville, yet ever greater advance has been made in the moral tone and in school discipline. More regular attendance of students in the classes has been secured. The cooperation of teachers and students is good. The practical work of the student, because of the various organizations in which he takes an active part, has been greatly increased. Nearly every teacher has some work outside of the regular class room work, which brings him or her in closer touch with the students and gives a better opportunity to become acquainted with student life. Our school is probably one of the busiest places in Jacksonville.

In case a student is making low grades in his work, the teachers, before allowing him to drop his work, give him an opportunity to bring up the work, and devote extra time and attention to him personally before and after school hours. We feel perfectly free to send any pupil for disorder or other cause to the office. We know that a fair and impartial hearing will be given that student, and that both his and our interests will be looked after the same as if we were present. This color, race, or standing of a pupil does not influence the investigation. When a student comes to the needy and making the student activities a financial success, Mr. Collins always takes our lead.

Doing Pioneer Work. Under Mr. Collins, as superintendent, we have been doing in many things what may be termed pioneer work. We have done away with certain objectionable senior privileges; rough-neck day, the latter reform being started during his predecessor's term; color rush; open disrespect for law and order prevalent in some quarters, and we have contested and done away with the claim made by many of the students that the ultimate authority rested in them, and not in the board of the faculty. In these contests, we admit, that Mr. Collins has taken a prominent part but he has not been the sole factor; we have done our part in the struggles which have brought about these reforms.

It is the constant effort of all the faculty to have a higher sense of honor and better scholarship prevail in our school, thereby, giving us a higher standing among other high schools and with the colleges. A number of things contribute to make this a difficult undertaking, such as loose discipline in some homes where parental authority is disregarded and hence, a like attitude to authority in school; dishonesty exhibited in cheating in recitations, tests, and examinations, as well as in athletic and literary contests; numerous and useless these meetings; holidays, which generally occupied a quarter of a day preceding the game and a quarter to a whole day following the winning or losing of an athletic contest; a lack of proper respect for constituted authority such as the faculty, the board of education, the judges of the Illinois State Athletic Association. Things are improving rapidly and we hope to win for the school and the children.

Progress in Scholarship. That our school has made progress this year along lines of scholarship is attested by the fact that we have been restored to the accredited list in six different subjects, namely, agriculture, economics, bookkeeping, commercial law, English history and civics, most of which had been dropped for failure to meet the required standards. Our students may now enter any college or university and obtain full college credit for the above subjects.

That we have progressed also in our form of government we have tried to show above and wish to add that so far from being an arbitrary ruler who allows no expression of sentiments different from his own, Mr. Collins has always consulted the faculty in every matter of school work and discipline, and show himself ready and willing to receive suggestions from any member of the faculty and to modify his own plans in accordance with the wishes of the majority.

The above statement concerning the administration of our high school is true to the facts as we understand them; and we desire to submit to our friends, acquaintances and the citizens of Jacksonville as to whether we have been or would wish to be known as passive or indifferent observers in these things or whether we have been actively cooperating with the leader and the board which we believe stood back of us and him, and back of them the large and lightened part of the citizen body. This body, we believe, stands for right thinking and right teaching and wishes these principles to instill into their children, and in case of infringement of rules wishes a just reproof or punishment administered.

Is Co-operative Body. We believe this statement will convince you that we are one co-operative body, each leading his or her own department, supported and helped by the heads of the other departments with the advice and assistance of the superintendent of schools.

COMMUNICATION FROM MR. PRIEST

"The mountain hath labored and brought forth a mouse." Superintendent Charles E. Collins has answered my statements and charges concerning the conditions, methods and actions of himself in his administration of the affairs of the high school, by causing to be published a statement by Paul E. Morrison, one of the teachers of the school, which fills 127 inches or nearly six and a half columns of newspaper space. My charges and statements, which I believe in the main to have been quite pointed and clear, concerned for the most part events and happenings beginning with Thursday, Feb. 10th. Six columns of the statement in reply refers to matters entirely before that date and less than one-half of a column was devoted to the events of the time in question.

Taken all in all, I believe the people of Jacksonville now can understand me better when I say that Mr. Collins has been busying himself with a tempest in a tea pot. I told him in a letter that I wrote to him and which has been published that what he was "making out of this affair was like changing a summer breeze into a West India hurricane." I think that now the people are in a position to see that I am right. He has made a mountain out of a mole hill. Let us review the matter briefly.

gations. He conducted this according to court methods with which he is so much more familiar than the ordinary and approved methods of conducting schools. He called the boys into his office one by one and in the presence of this same Mr. Morrison and with a stenographer to take down their every word, he questioned them. Before they were called into the room where the investigation was being held they were seated around in the outer office some twelve or fifteen feet apart and not allowed to communicate. They were investigated for periods ranging from one and one-half hours to five hours each. A profound air of mystery was thrown about the entire affair. A patron of the school who was a parent of two of the boys under such restraint and slated for such investigation was refused over the telephone, in person and twice by letter to be informed even what the investigation was about or what information it was sought to obtain. The same patron of the school was also refused an interview with the superintendent and was repeatedly informed over the telephone that the superintendent was busy and could not talk with him. After accumulating "heaps" of testimony, almost reams of it I am told, the superintendent canceled the debates entirely for this year, causing Jacksonville to be dropped from the Tri-City debates and consequently from the Knox college debating league; an act which injures the school and works against its standing in the state.

And once more, we come back to the original question to Mr. Collins. "What is it all about?" Mr. Morrison has informed us in six and one-half columns which I hope everybody read. It must certainly have been a heinous, infamous offense to have caused all this commotion, excitement and drastic action. Read that six and one-half columns over again, people of Jacksonville. I want you to get it and learn it well so that in all future time you can point out to the erring youth the results of such wrong-doing. Tell them how the very newspapers thru the state, devoted about a column each to the story; how a time-honored institution with a history of years, the Tri-City debate, was swept into oblivion, just because some of the debaters under the nervous strain and excitement of the occasion did some things which are very characteristic of children.

I would not have any one misunderstand me as to my attitude or opinion of what my boys and the others working with them did. If any of the boys did wrong—and it is not yet proven that they did do wrong—let a punishment commensurate with their fault be administered. What I claim now has been conclusively proved by the statement made by Mr. Morrison, is that all that they did was unimportant when compared with what Mr. Collins has endeavored to make out of it. One of my charges was that he was conducting an unwarranted, unreasonable and unnecessary investigation by methods extreme and without precedent into matters which were unimportant. I claim now that this charge has been proved. I assert without fear of successful contradiction, that under any other superintendent than Mr. Collins the entire affair would have been conducted differently and probably no one outside of the schools would have been any the wiser concerning it all. Certainly the debate would not have been continued and finally entirely canceled, a mysterious and sinister investigation entered into and the most ordinary civilities denied to a patron of the school and a parent of some of the debaters. All of this is Mr. Collins' doings. If he can stand the consequences of his actions I am sure that I can.

The article by Mr. Morrison is fair and so very nearly correct that if some of the statements made which are somewhat in the nature of half-truths were only completed and a few biased and prejudiced statements were rectified, I believe everybody concerned could subscribe to it. But it doesn't strike the issues in the case. After he has said all, my charges still stand unrefuted. Some of them are practically admitted and the others are ignored.

One statement made in the article is probably worth special attention. I quote: "He (Mr. Collins) said that John Martin had said that there had been a combination that had plans whereby they expected to be counted the six debaters who would represent the high school. I said, 'That I knew nothing about such plans, but if they existed we certainly ought to know about them.'" Now mark you, the letter of Mr. Collins which precedes the statement, vouches for the ability of Mr. Morrison to speak with knowledge and authority on these subjects. Six columns and more are used to exemplify to the world the thoro and minute grasp that he had of the situation and yet he "knew nothing about such plans" until Mr. Collins had by his corkscrew methods extracted from a boy under fear of expulsion from school a "confession" of the "conspiracy."

I wish to say that I stand squarely by the statements, allegations and charges that I have made and if I were given an opportunity could and would gladly substantiate everyone of them. I now charge that Mr. Collins is afraid to come out in the open and fight his own battles like a man. All thru this matter he has been in hiding behind somebody. He got the judges in the debate to issue and publish a statement for him. He has used the board of education, or three-fifths of it rather, as a rampart to hide behind and now he gets behind Mr. Morrison and has him issue a statement for him. Everybody with any knowledge of the high school knows that Mr. Morrison is the brightest and most shining example of what I have previously said about the faculty, so no one is going to be deceived when he apparently issues a statement. Now if this is all that Mr. Collins intends to say, I am inclined to think that it is time to drop it so far as the newspapers are concerned. There has been far too much newspaper space thrust out the state wasted on the matter for the good of Jacksonville and its school system, now. But as I only sought this means of justification when all others were closed to me, I have neither apologies nor regrets for my part in it. I assure everybody that the best things I had to say are not yet said and it depends entirely on Mr. Collins whether or not they ever get to the public ear.

John W. Priest.

Jacksonville, Ill., Feb. 26, 1916.

Editor Journal:

The statement of Charles E. Collins over the signatures of the majority of the faculty of the high school, which I presume will appear in this issue of your paper and which did appear in another paper of the city today, demands a brief answer. I have the highest respect for every teacher of the high school and this regard goes so far that I have the most sincere sympathy with them in the position in which they are placed. I know from the expressions made to me in conversations recently that some of these teachers have exactly the same opinion of Mr. Collins and his domineering methods as I have, only their respect for him is even less than mine. He did not need to take a club and menace them to get the teachers to sign this statement. They knew that he would "get them" if they didn't. They are wise people and any of the rest of us would do the same if similarly placed.

You remember that in my appeal to the people I said: "Then, too, there is behind Mr. Collins a majority of the faculty of the high school, each one recognizing that he has usurped an extreme authority over the schools of Jacksonville and that their positions are not secure unless they work hand in hand with him and are obedient to his every wish. These teachers, excellent people one and all, are not to be blamed for this attitude toward the powers that be. They have the fresh examples of the treatment that was accorded Principal Stone and Miss Laura White to bring them into a way of seeing things exactly as does Mr. Collins."

However, there is about as much relevance in this statement to the charges which I have made against Mr. Collins as there would be in an essay on the nebular hypothesis or a dissertation on the binomial theorem. For the reasons that these teachers have signed, we are supposed to believe Mr. Collins is not guilty of the things as charged. Go back and get the connection. Possibly you can find it, I will confess I can't.

Mr. Collins is a man. Come out from behind that nable phalanx and fight your own battles like a man. When I have to resort to such methods to defend myself, I hope someone will get after me, just like I am getting after you.

John W. Priest.

STATEMENT FROM STUDENTS

Editor Journal:
Please give the following statement which is made by six of us boys who have been accused in connection with the debate, publication:

We, the undersigned, wish to make the following statement in regard to the debating controversy at the high school:

At the beginning of the year it was our intention to work for our own good and the good of the school. We thought that by working together we could develop two good debating teams to represent the high school in the tri-city debates. When we realized that the powers behind John Collins were endeavoring to place him on the team and eliminate as many of us as possible we decided to oppose any plans that we thought unjust. This was the incentive that led to our opposition of the proposed arrangements of debaters. Under these circumstances we believe that we have done nothing wrong. After the meeting in Miss Kent's room some time in December, in which it is alleged that we planned to keep John Collins and Gladys Ferreira off the team by any means possible, we decided that if we could get Robert Priest to come back on the squad we would drop all matters of disagreement. Robert Priest agreed to come back and we decided to buckle down to hard work and defeat John Collins by gaining a more thorough knowledge of the subject. As regards Miss Ferreira we have her own words, spoken on several occasions, once to Mr. Collins, that "she got a square deal". We admit that we had prejudices against girl debaters but we recognize her ability to debate and rate her as one of the best on the squad. We feel that there is no just reason for the accusation made by Mr. Collins and we are indeed sorry that the superintendent called off the debates with Springfield and Quincy. We have been unjustly accused of "crooked work" altho we have the statement of a member of the debating squad that at one time he was asked by John Collins to assist him in getting a hold of Miss Ferreira arguments. John Collins was refused this favor. This has gone entirely unnoticed by Mr. Collins in his investigations. After all we have played a square game and we can see no reason for this mysterious investigation and the cancelling of the debates.

Tender Teeth—the first sign of Pyorrhea

When you brush your teeth, does it feel as though you were brushing against the quick? Do the gums sometimes bleed? This is because pyorrhea has caused the gums to pull away from your teeth, leaving the unenamelled surfaces unprotected.

Your dentist will tell you, if you ask him, that you have gum recession; and that gum recession is caused by pyorrhea.

Unchecked, pyorrhea will warp and shrink and deform the gums. It will break down the bony structure into which the teeth are set—and you will eventually lose them. To save your teeth you will have to begin to fight this dread disease at once.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25c is sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. Get Senreco of your druggist today, or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address: The Senreco Remedies Company 503 Union Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

EXCITED SELLING BRINGS ABOUT SEVERE BREAK IN PRICE OF WHEAT

Market Closes Semi-demoralized, 5% to 5 1/2 Cents Net Lower—Corn and Oats Show Losses.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Excited selling which resulted from pessimistic surmises about developments in the European marine issue and which arose from unconfirmed rumors of the fall of Verdun, brought about a severe break today in the price of wheat. The market closed semi-demoralized, 5 1/2 to 5 1/4 net lower, with May at $1.15 1/2 and July at $1.10 1/2.

Corn finished 3/4 to 1 1/4% down and oats off 1/4% to 3/8% but provisions unchanged to be higher. Attempts here to explain setbacks in the New York stock market as being due to a less favorable outlook for avoiding an open breach between the United States and Germany were what first gave to wheat the violent downward impetus that turned loose a flood of standing to sell out holdings and put a stop to losses.

Keeping the Pigs Free From Worms.
Thus inquires G. V. L. of Iowa:
The Question.

Here are his own words: "Would like to plan to keep my pigs from becoming infected with worms. I understand the santolin and calomel method of treatment, and am using it successfully, but the pigs become infected so young that I have difficulty. The hogs have access at different times to practically all of the barns and to all of the pastures and I presume the place is pretty well infected. Can liming be done so as to keep the pigs free from the worms? Is it necessary to quarantine the place or a part of it from the hogs for a year or so?" Santolin at $6 an ounce is pretty expensive; any cheaper method of combating the worms will be appreciated."

The Answer.

In general to prevent infection from worms these points should be considered:

1. The pigs should be "kept coming." The better the pigs are handled and fed the more likely they are to avoid and throw off infection. Give the young pig a good start. Old hogs do not apparently suffer much from worms generally, but even the old hogs should be well fed and carefully managed so as to keep them in good thrifty condition.

2. Good feeding of the young pigs may be accomplished by arranging creeps, placing in them such feeds as corn, tankage, wheat middlings—each in separate feeders. If these pigs are out on pasture so much the better, preferably alfalfa or clover. A little milk is a great help.

3. Free access to condiments such as air slacked lime, charcoal, slacked coal, powdered sulphur, copperas, sodium sulphate, and Glauber's salts, sal soda and salt may be given—these being allowed "free choice" style—each being placed in a separate feeder. They will help some, but are not a sure preventative by any means.

4. Clean pastures and exercise grounds are important. Pastures of the annual sort such as rape are fine, also clean alfalfa and clover pastures—pastures that the hogs have not run on before, are excellent. Plowing the lots helps wonderfully in getting rid of the infection. Taking the pigs away from the old infected lots and putting them on new pasture and in new lots is to be recommended. Keep the hogs away from the white grubs or the snails along the river bank so that they will not get the embryos of the thorn headed worm. In other words, keep away from infected places. Be careful of the hog wallow. Why not make it of concrete so you can keep it clean? Use dip in it, or crude oil, now and then. See that the water supply comes from a deep well rather than from the contaminated leachings of the barn yard where the hogs are kept.

5. Do not throw the feed out in the mud or in the infected lots. Have a concrete platform and feed there, keep this platform clean so that the pigs will pick up a minimum of infection. Keep troughs and natural feeding places free from coals, refuse, etc.

6. Drainage is necessary. Keep the lots as dry as possible. The lung worm infection is likely to be very severe in wet years; this is likewise true of other kinds of worms such as the round and the kidney worms.

7. The life history of the worm should be studied. That is the thorn headed, of the round, of the lung, and of the kidney, and schemes provided that will evade the worm as well as the worm eggs and the embryos at all stages in the life history of said worm.

8. Use santolin and calomel to rid the hogs of worms. The dose is about 5 grains of each to a hundred pound pig. For a two hundred pound pig increase to 7 1/2-2; for a three hundred pound pig, to about 10 grains of each. This is called the "emergency treatment" and may be practiced on wormy hogs to advantage.

Farm Advisor Plans Postponed.

The committee of the Farmers' club met in conference Saturday morning to hear reports from those who have been circulating petitions among farmers relative to the employment of a county advisor. It was decided that sufficient interest has not been shown to push the matter further at this time. As a matter of fact, the roads have been in such condition for several weeks past that it has not been possible for the committee to get out into the country and see farmers relative to pledges. The time for busy farm work is so near at hand that it was deemed advisable to drop the matter until later in the season. It is therefore the plan to have a series of meetings late the coming summer with addresses by farmers from counties where advisors are employed and then to take the question up again and seek to secure an advisor for 1917.

Good Roads Luncheon Thursday

All arrangements are well in hand for the Good Roads Luncheon next Thursday at 12:30 p. m., at the Central Christian church. The ladies of the church will serve one of those delicious luncheons for which they are noted. A special popular musical program has been arranged for the entertainment of those who attend. The Hittie Brothers orchestra and the Post Office quartet will furnish the music.

Hon. S. E. Bradt, State Highway Commissioner of Illinois; Col. Frank W. Buffum, State Highway Commissioner of Missouri, and Mr. Frank T. Sheets, Assistant Maintenance Engineer of the State Highway Department of Illinois, will speak with special reference to the care of earth roads and the value of auto trails and Mr. A. L. Ewert will speak for the Burlington Way.

Many reservations for plates have already been made. Those who have not made reservations should do so at once or procure tickets at one of the banks of Jacksonville as the ladies serving the luncheon must know how many to prepare for. All interested in road betterment are cordially invited to attend this luncheon. Bad roads should not prevent those interested from attending a good roads meeting.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES.

The Domestic Science department can accommodate a few more children in the Practice Teachers' classes, which are conducted by the students who will graduate this coming June. This is an exceptional opportunity for anyone eligible, girls over 17 years of age, to take up this work.

Miss Walker, the head of the Home Economics department, is announcing a series of hot lunches to be provided by the department at cost, for the benefit of the town girls, during the noon hour. These will be given three days each week.

Monday evening occurred the regular annual Washington birthday party. This is an event eagerly looked forward to by all the students, as one of the delightful affairs of the year. The dining room was most tastefully decorated in national colors, and the students were costumed most appropriately. After the dinner, the grand march occurred in the main corridors and halls, and from there they went over to the Music hall, where a little Washington birthday play was given.

Thursday occurred the lectures on "Child Labor" by Owen Lovejoy. In the afternoon, at 4:30, Mr. Lovejoy talked to the more advanced students and faculty on the method and organization of the National Child Labor and Welfare commission. In the evening he lectured on the scope of the work and what its effects should be on the American people.

Rev. William A. Brown, one of the secretaries of the National Sunday school work, and a returned missionary from the Philippine Islands, gave a most delightful talk at chapel on Wednesday morning. His experiences were most interesting and very instructive.

Almost all of the members of the Dramatic club attended the lecture given by Mr. Chubb at the public library Friday night. Several of the faculty members were present at the banquet given in his honor later at the Peacock Inn.

BIG LAND TRANSFER

IN SANGAMON. William Brown recently sold his farm, near Ashland in Sangamon county, at the handsome price of $215 per acre. The sale totaled approximately $160,000. This is one of the best improved farms in Sangamon county and is located on the state road one and one-half miles east of Ashland. Thomas Leahy, who has land adjoining was the purchaser. Mr. Brown formerly lived at 1333 South Clay avenue, this city.

MR. ROGERSON EXPLAINS SCHOOL BOARD STATUS.

To the Editor of the Journal.
Dear Sir:

As there seems to be some misunderstanding regarding the Board of Education's meeting called to convene at 7:30 p. m., Feb. 29th, I wish to explain from my standpoint the reason for calling this meeting at that time. It is not usually the custom to administer upon a man's estate until after his death. Therefore, the Jacksonville Special School Charter does not die until February 29th, at 12:00 o'clock, midnight, so it seems to me that the proper thing to do was to meet on the last day and get our house in order, sign all proper bills, and instruct the clerk of the Board of Education to issue warrants for the February pay-roll and date them Feb. 29th. As far as the other bills are concerned, our 75 per cent anticipation authority is exhausted and the bills are just approved on the back as we cannot issue anticipation warrants beyond 75 per cent of our tax levy. Therefore, when the bills are approved they are in shape to put up as collateral if the owners so desire, and will be taken up as soon as the tax money is turned over to the treasurer by the sheriff.

In the passing of the special school charter, the present treasurer turns over his books to the township treasurer, Mr. Edward M. Dunlap, together with all funds and papers in his hands belonging to the Board of Education on the first day of Mar. 1916. The sheriff also pays the tax money when collected after the first of March to the township treasurer who pays the bills and warrants of the Jacksonville school district, No. 117, that are issued by the clerk of the Board of Education, and when presented to the township treasurer for payment, if there are no funds in the hands of the treasurer to pay the same, he writes on the back of the warrants in ink, not paid for lack of funds. The warrants then become a note against the Jacksonville school district No. 117, and draws interest at the rate of 5 per cent until paid.

The warrants are just as good as government bonds, and can be cashed with perfect safety by any person, bank or banker, who have money to loan at 5 per cent, notwithstanding that some one, perhaps, unscrupulous politicians, would have teachers and other people believe that they will not get their money. I only wish I had the cash to take up all the warrants issued. We will receive this year from County Superintendent Vasconcellos, for tuition money, paid by the State of Illinois, approximately $4,380.00 and out of the state distributive fund approximately $4,800.00, and will receive from the sheriff, out of taxes due, for general school purposes, approximately $64,819.16 and for building purposes $11,760.00 making a grand total approximately $85,759.00 for all purposes, which I believe will be sufficient to meet all the claims against the present Board of Education.

Notwithstanding the fact that our salary schedule is much greater than it was last year. As I recall the schedule in the Journal of May 4, 1915, the new salary schedule is figured at $64,987.00 or this year, a saving over the previous year, which was $66,206.00 or a saving of $2119 and the displacement of $5458 worth of teachers, janitors, etc. Our salary pay-roll for this school year ending May 31, 1916 will be, taking the same pay roll for February namely $7477.04 for March, April and May, our pay roll will amount to $68,112.31 or $4,025.31 more than anticipated on May 4, 1915 and $1906.31 more than it was before the economy wave struck us.

Very respectfully,
George S. Rogerson.

LIGHT COMPANY TO PLACE

MODERN GAS LIGHT ON MARKET

Humphrey Radio-X is Last Word in Gas Lamps—To be Exemplified in City.

In keeping with its usual progressive policy the Jacksonville Railway and Light company will tomorrow place one of the most modern gas lights yet manufactured on the market. The light is the Humphrey Radio-X single mantle lighting unit.

The Humphrey Radio-X is the last word in gas lamps. It is small, graceful and artistic and will harmonize with any room. The fixture is finished in oxidized brass and brass green enamel, the other colors may be had on order.

Mr. Bradish, in charge of the gas department of the company, expects Monday to begin soliciting orders for the Humphrey Radio-X. He will place six men out to demonstrate the Humphrey Radio-X. These solicitors will be prepared to demonstrate the value of the fixture and if satisfactory to install it immediately.

While electric light has come into general use in nearly every home there are still many who prefer gas light for reading. Gas makes a more cheerful light and also is much better for reading than electric light. The value of gas light depends largely upon the lamp. Mr. Bradish believes that the Humphrey will appeal to all who wish not only a lamp that secures the best light but is ornamental as well. The company claim five great improvements in the Humphrey over any other lamp. When the solicitor calls give him an opportunity to show you these improvements.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Box Social Enjoyed by Gallander Club.

A box social under the auspices of the Gallander club, which is composed exclusively of deaf men, was held at the residence of Hiram Hull on Webster avenue Friday evening. Lee Hull is the president of the club. Sixty different persons, men and women, were present and the occasion was one of special pleasure. It was a box social and in observance of leap year the ladies made bids for the boxes, which had been prepared by the men. This innovation was the cause of much merriment. The ladies were liberal in their bids and as a result a goodly sum was raised for the home fund for the aged and infirm deaf. F. W. Schoneman was the auctioneer and succeeded in selling several of the boxes more than once.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION HARD PRESSED FOR FUNDS

The state highway commission finds itself hard pressed for sufficient money to carry on its work, because many counties in the state insist upon constructing oil or earth roads instead of concrete, brick or macadam thoroughfares. The commission was given $200,000 each year for the next two years by the last general assembly. Under ordinary circumstances this sum would have been sufficient. A big increase in the engineering force of the commission, however, is necessitated because many counties in the state desire to build oiled or earth roads. Seventy engineers are working over the state making the surveys preliminary to the opening of the spring work. Indications are that bond issues aggregating $20,000,000 will be voted on this spring by the different counties.

ROODHOUSE TOWNSHIP DEFEATS SINGLE HIGHWAY COMMISSION ACT

An election was held in Roodhouse township Saturday on adopting the single highway commission act. Roodhouse township has three highway commissioners under the present law. The adoption of the new law would have made only one for the township. Evidently the farmers did not look with favor on the proposition and it was defeated by fifteen votes.

SPRINGFIELD WANTS MORE MONEY FOR LIBRARY

The city commissioners of Springfield have been requested to increase the appropriations for library purposes from $14,000 to $20,000. The library board seeks to have all this money by the end of the year 1918. Under the law as it now is, any library board has the power to assess a two mill tax for library purposes, and according to this law Springfield will be entitled to an appropriation of $35,000.

ALL READY FOR BIG SALVATION ARMY MEETING TODAY

Commissioner Estill Here to Speak at Grand Opera House.

Plans are now complete for the Salvation Army special meetings in Jacksonville today. Commissioner Estill is to address a public gathering at the Opera House at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Members of the chamber of commerce and some other citizens have been invited to occupy seats on the platform. It will certainly be a matter of years before Jacksonville again has the opportunity of hearing such a prominent officer of the army and it is certain that the address will be one of great general interest. The work of the Salvation Army is important locally, just as it is throughout the nation, and there should be a large attendance at the Opera House meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A GOOD BUTTER RECORD.
Mrs. A. D. Arnold, residing near Arnold Station, has a grade Jersey cow which she doesn't regard as anything extra and yet from the little bovine Mrs. Arnold makes regularly nine pounds of butter a week. The cow gets some clover hay and the ordinary feed of the farm and some corn also which is not popularly supposed to be the very best feed for a milk giving cow. The record is certainly remarkable.

When You Think of Rugs

Think of Whittall Rugs

They are a treasured luxury to their fortunate possessor and give lasting satisfaction.

Nothing in the whole history of floor coverings has ever been made to surpass the artistic beauty of the genuine antique. Once this desirable effect was only within the reach of the wealthy, but now it is well within the reach of everyone's pocketbook. The problem has been solved by

WHITTALL'S

American Made Orientals

The wools used are the same, the same designs and glorious colorings, but modern methods and steel fingers have superseded antiquated methods and human fingers and all that is good and desirable of the Oriental Rug is yours at one-tenth the cost.

Wear only increases their silkiness of texture and the rich colorings appear to you every day more softly harmonious.

Never buy a Rug until you have seen the name "WHITTALL" woven into the back; then and then only can you be sure you have the best.
